

COMMUNITY OF HOPE

monthly update

It's National Volunteer Week!

At CityKidz, we could not exist without the hundreds of volunteers that make up our team. Whether they're driving a bus, preparing food, communicating with supporters, singing and dancing along at our CityKidz Saturday program, or providing crucial mentorship to our youth, Every Moment Matters, and their impact on children's lives is profound.

In this month's update, I would like to spotlight three such individuals that I have had the privilege to cross paths with over the last two years. Together, they have over 30 years of combined volunteer experience at CityKidz. They continue to show up year after year with lending hands, listening ears, open hearts and a passion to move our mission forward.

They not only give selflessly of their time but they are also members of our Community of Hope, and like you, have committed to a monthly gift to ensure that children and youth continue to access the love, support and programs we offer throughout the year.

Thank you for being part of our Community of Hope. If these stories inspire you and you want to learn more about volunteering, click here, call us at 905-544-3996 or email us at volunteer@citykidz.ca

Sincerely,
Lisa

Susan's story as a volunteer at CityKidz spans well over 15 years. Although she modestly views herself as a behind the scenes contributor, in many ways, she's been the face and voice of the organization, as one of CityKidz' greatest advocates.

Meet Kat. She first heard about CityKidz through her older sister who had come out to volunteer at CityKidz to help with our Christmas program. About a year later, Kat was looking for something to fill her Saturdays and remembered CityKidz.

Tania's journey with CityKidz began in 2017 when her friend at church, none other than Susan Hammond, recognizing her background as an educator and her love for children, suggested she might enjoy volunteering there.
