Only through deep relationships can we make disciples who become effective at making disciples. Relationships, especially among men can often lack depth which hinders our efforts to follow the Great Commission and make disciples. During this retreat, we will explore in what ways the wisdom of Proverbs 27:17 can guide us in understanding the effectiveness and value of deeper relationships with our Christ-disciple brothers and seekers alike.

Our sessions will be led by the elders at Waterloo.

Come with an open mind and humbled spirit, and leave with a commitment to make disciples for the Lord, who, in turn, make disciples.
